The following conversation between a man named Jones and a boy was overheard by a St. Louis gentleman the other day:

"I say, Jim, what is the difference between the commencement and the beginning of anything?"

"I don't know," said Jim; "what is it?"

"There ain't any," was the reply.

"I see," replied Jim. "Now you tell me this: A jackass was on one side of a river and some hay on the other, and the jackass wanted to get at the hay without wetting his feet. How did he do it?"

"I don't know," said Jones; "I give it up."

"So did the other jackass," said Jim.

SIXTY-FOUR NATIONS.—We gather from a table of historical statistics, which embraces sixty four nations, since the commencement of the monarchical form of government to the end of the eighteenth century, the following facts: Among the 2,642 sovereigns named in these tables are mentioned 290 kings dethroned, 64 who abdicated, 20 who committed suicide, 11 attacked with madness, 105 slain in battle, 123 made prisoners, 25 who were martyred, 151 assassinated, 62 poisoned and 108 condemned to death. Among these 64 nations, and during the same period, 8,581 wars and 275 revolutions took place, whereby 68,856,700 men were killed. These are some fine examples of the beauties of king-craft.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Jacob Levin died Friday morning of congestive cholera, at Yemassee, after an illness of a few hours. He was in remarkably good spirits the evening previous, and conversed with his friends as happily as ever, and had no symptoms of sickness, beyond a slight cold. He was universally esteemed for his many good traits of character. His remains were taken to Charleston.—Beaufort Republican.

"GOING BACK" ON FROGS.—They devoured, last year, 25,562 pounds of frogs in Paris; and yet it was not a "leap" year. The hind legs are the "peculiar delicacy" in eating these little creatures. They ought to "rear" such dainties gently, therefore, for the epicurean table, and the dainties may well ponder on their ultimate fate, and "feel down in the mouth," in advance, while doing so.

SAD ACCIDENT.—Near Pineville, on the 18th, the clothes of a little negro girl, named Mary, daughter of Anthony Lee, caught fire in the house. She ran out screaming, and after running a hundred yards, came back to the house, and died immediately. This horrible accident occurred on the farm of Mr. J. M. Kirkpatrick.—Charlotte Southern Home.

Charles Lamb's punning answer to the anxious questioner as to the cost of walking over Waterloo Bridge, that in going across he would be tolled, is now no longer applicable. The London Board of Public Works have voted to remove the tolls from the Waterloo and other toll-bridges across the Thames.

A DOG THAT IS WORTH SOMETHING.—A. B. Newman, assistant light-keeper at Mount Desert, is the owner of a fine Newfoundland dog, of whom we are told the following anecdote: On Sunday, the 15th ult., Mr. Newman's little boy, nine years old, strayed away and was missing for about two hours. The mother went out of doors and called to him, when the dog, in response, ran up the shore with the boy's wet cap in his mouth, and signified by his actions that he desired her to follow him. The mother, alarmed, called the father, who was sleeping in the house, and they followed the dog as quickly as possible.

Down by the shore, on a rock, the little boy was lying insensible, his clothes wet, as if he had been dragged from the water. After long efforts, in which the dog rendered all the assistance he could in his mute way, the boy was resuscitated, and afterwards told his story. He was on the beach gathering shells when a large wave came in and carried him off in the under tow. The dog jumped in after him, but the wave prevented him from reaching the boy for some minutes. He seized him by the leg of his trousers and tried to drag him ashore, but the cloth tore in his teeth; and the boy said that he had an indistinct recollection of the dog coming down below the surface for him again; and that was the last thing he was conscious of. It seems that the dog had dragged the child up on the rock out of the reach of the waves, and had tried to restore him. When he heard the mother's call he took the cap to inform her, as well as he could, of the affair, and hasten assistance.

A BOURBON PRETENDER.—A strange trial is to come off in Paris in November. A person who calls himself M. Adalbert de Bourbon, who is the son of a clock-maker named Naundorff, who pretended during his life to be the missing Louis XVII., is about to see the Comte de Chambord. This personage makes no claim to royal honors, and contents himself simply with demanding the fortune of his ancestor, Louis XVI. Naundorff, the elder, was the most famous of all the Bourbon pretenders. M. Jules Favre is to conduct the case for the present pretender. Several volumes have already been written in defence of the claims of Naundorff to be considered the "Lost Dauphin."

The friends of Ireland will be glad to know that a seam of coal ten feet in thickness has been discovered in that poor, distressed country. England has had to go to Ireland for her poets, statesmen and soldiers for years past, and now for her coal; and it is possible that in future Ireland will see the tide of prosperity setting toward her shores, compelling her oppressor to make restitution for wrongs inflicted or freeze to death.

The nations of the earth, particularly those of Europe, are alarmed lest some day when France and Italy conclude to go to war, the Mt. Cenix Tunnel may be destroyed. In view of this danger, it has been suggested that the tunnel be declared neutral, forbidding its use to either nation for hostile purposes, guaranteed by all the European powers.

A man died lately in Paris who had for a long time earned his living by exhibiting himself as a living skeleton. He was once of the usual stoutness, but a crazy love affair drove him into killing a man, and remorse and disappointment kept him thin ever afterward. Rather singular, though, that a man should use his remorse to get a living by.

The old genealogical puzzle, which from time to time has racked the brains of readers of the provincial press, is realized in the case of an elderly Indian, who has married the daughter of his son's wife, thus becoming his daughter-in-law's son-in-law, his grand-son's half-brother, and his own grand-father, &c., &c.

The cholera has broken out with great virulence in different parts of India. Up to August 24, the deaths of 227 Europeans, all in the army, had been reported. The disease has severely attacked her Majesty's 65th Regiment, and at last accounts the troops were to be sent into camp at Rawl Pinda. The natives also are suffering terribly.

It is all nonsense to suppose that the United States is the only country where married men and women do not enjoy each others society. In support of this proposition, we see it stated that the stamps on divorce proceedings in the London court amounted to $16,000 in one year.

THE ELECTION AND ITS FRAUDS.—The election for State and County officers for this County, held on last Wednesday, passed off quietly—no disturbance whatever. We regret to say, however, that, to our knowledge, there never was an election held under greater disadvantages. Intimidation was the watchword. The Radical ring knowing, or believing, that the Conservatives would put candidates in the field for County offices, and fearing this opposition, set their rascally wits to work to carry the election at all hazards. With this view, they, first and foremost, brought Deputy Marshals to this place, in order, we firmly believe, to intimidate the people. The said Marshals hung around for several days in all the "pomp and circumstance" of their official position, until last Sunday night, when three separate squads of cavalry were detailed, each under command of a Deputy Marshal. They left this place between 11 and 12 o'clock, going in different directions. They scoured the country from the time of starting till Monday noon, returning with six innocent and unsuspecting citizens. The midnight riding had the effect these soundreels desired, to a considerable extent, though not so much as they had hoped. The people were somewhat bewildered, but they were satisfied as to the meaning of this midnight riding, coming as it did just on the eve of the election, and they determined to vote and risk the consequences; so they did, though a great number, no doubt, were deterred from voting from fears of arrest. So much for the intimidation scheme, which we designate as fraud No. 1.

Fraud No. 2 consists in the Commissioners of Election failing to provide a box at each precinct with four separate and distinct apartments, as the law plainly contemplates, which reads thus: "Each box for such precinct shall be labeled as follows: 'Congress,' 'State,' 'Circuit' and 'County Officers.'"

Instead of observing the law in the above particular, the Commissioners only provided a single box, containing one single and general receptacle, into which all the votes were deposited. This being the case, a number of Conservative votes at Clinton, according to the ruling of the managers at that box, were lost, many voting the State ticket (Tomlinson's) folded with the Conservative ticket for County officers. We learn that 180 of these tickets were thrown out at the Clinton box alone, and we presume the same will be, or has been, done at other boxes.

Fraud No. 3 (perhaps the greatest of all) was in the failure to open the Lyons box. This precinct was duly advertised in this paper, and the managers appointed. The chairman came, as required, was qualified, received the box, and left this place on Tuesday night, yet no box was opened. The voters at that precinct were promptly at the polls, and waited there until 11 o'clock. No manager appeared, and of course the voters at that precinct were deprived of the privilege of voting. Now, in our opinion, this failure to open the polls at said precinct, was an intentional fraud, perpetrated in order to throw out the whole vote, which the ring knew was largely Conservative. Not less than 300 votes were lost to the Conservative party by this failure to open the polls at the Lyons precinct.

Fraud No. 4 consists in the voting of negroes under age, and others voting "early and often." This was undoubtedly done here. This charge can be substantiated and will be done. One negro was caught in the act of "repeating" his vote at this place. A number of others voted here early in the morning, were furnished conveyances, and sent off to Hamilton's, where they repeated. This, we learn from reliable authority, can also be proved by the record, and by respectable citizens. Wagon-loads of negroes were sent from Clinton to this place, and from this place to Clinton, and repeated their votes. Hence the large Radical majority in this County.

Knowing, as every one must know, the numerous, unheard-of and monstrous frauds practiced in the late election, we can't see how any man, with a particle of conscience, could qualify and serve in the office to which he may have been elected.

We might be in favor of making an effort to contest the election, were it not that we have no hope of a favorable consideration; and, so far as we are concerned, are disposed to give up all hope of getting a fair election until the laws and regulations are changed in regard to voting, and we are again allowed registration, and when the commissioners of election and managers are not all candidates, and of the same party, or as nearly so as practicable, as is now the case.

We are unable to get correct returns of the election for this issue, but will give them in our next. It is supposed, however, that the Radical ticket, by fraud and intimidation, will be carried by 700 votes or more.

Every morning for the past twenty years, President Thiers has received from an anonymous donor a bunch of violets. Sometimes the fragrant bouquet is laid outside the window of his bedroom; sometimes it is found on the chimney-piece. Even when M. Thiers was in prison, at the time of the coup d'etat, the flowers, by some means or other, found their way to his hands.

The first election under the ballot was held in Ireland on the 5th inst. The election was a municipal one for the commissioners of the town of Rathgar, and all went off quietly.

THE GRAND GIFT CONCERT.

GIFT MONEY ALL UP! $500,000

In Bank to Pay Prizes. A FULL DRAWING IN SIGHT.

THE GRAND GIFT CONCERT, for the benefit of the Public Library of Kentucky, is postponed to SATURDAY, the 7th of December, for the following reasons:

1. The failure of certain agents to make returns in time for the drawing to take place September 28.

2. The accumulation of orders during the last few days to such an extent that it was not possible to fill them and have the drawing on the 28th.

3. The general expressed desire of ticket-holders that a full drawing might be had, even if it made a short postponement necessary.

4. The belief of the management that by a short postponement the remnant of unsold tickets can be disposed of, and all the prizes paid in full, without the necessity of any pro rata scaling down.

For these reasons, coupled with the earnest desire to benefit the Public Library by a larger balance, and the ticket-holders by larger gifts, the concert and distribution have been postponed to Saturday, the 7th of December, 1872.

On that day, at 4 o'clock, the drawing will be positively and unequivocally come off in the great hall of the Public Library building, beginning at precisely 6 o'clock A. M., and continue until the whole 1,000 gifts are awarded.

The payment of the gifts will begin the third day after the drawing, and continue for six months, in current funds, by the Farmers' and Drivers' Bank, by eight draft upon the Fourth National Bank, New York, at the option of the gift ticket-holders.

List of Gifts.

One Grand Gift, Cash, $100,000. One Grand Gift, $50,000. 1 Cash Gift, $25,000. 15 Cash Gifts, $2,0
